THIRD ANNUAL MEETING OF THE OXFORD COUNTY PATRIOTIC ASSOCIATION, JULY 4TH.

Election of Officers and Other Business Transacted.

The third annual meeting of the Oxford County Patriotic Association was held at Central Park, located between South Paris and Norway, July 4th. About 200 were present. Led by the Drum Corps they marched to the Hall where a business meeting was called at 10:30. O. A. Maxim presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. H. Little of Bethel. Secretary's report of last meeting read and accepted. He was also the treasurer.

Next came the election of officers: President—Rev. J. H. Little of Bethel. S. V. Pres.—Mrs. Ellen Curtis, So. Paris.

J. V. Pres.—C. H. George, Hebron. Treas.—A. P. True, Bethel. Sec.—Mrs. M. Bartlett, Bethel. Press Cor.—Annie C. Bagley, Norway. Executive Committee—Mrs. Ellen Childs, So. Paris; Mrs. Beattie Monk, Dr. Wendell Rounds, So. Paris; Clara Jordan, Adelle Lovejoy, Ed. Kneeland, Oscar Needham, Norway; G. A. Whitman, Bryant's Pond; William Bridgeham, O. Morry, Buckfield; Mrs. Levi Bartlett, Mrs. M. Bartlett, Mrs. E. Burnham, Bethel; Mr. Herbert Hutchinson, Mrs. Helen Robertson, West Sumner; Mrs. Blanche Merrill, Hebron; Mr. Eastman, Fryeburg; John P. Swasey and wife of Canton; Mrs. Martha Black and Mrs. M. M. Patrick, No. Waterford; Mrs. E. Isaacson, Rumford Falls; Col. William Easton, Dixfield.

Col. Easton then came forward and made a ringing speech in regard to keeping the Association before the public. A vote of thanks was extended to Comrade Bassett for the use of the Park and Hall. Voted to adjourn. Coffee was then served by the William Kimball Post, South Paris and for the next hour the lunch box was much in evidence.

At 1:30 the Executive Committee met and voted to hold the Association meeting at Central Park, June 17th 1911, Norway W. R. C. and G. A. R. Post to furnish coffee and did some one say beans as well? Let us hope so. The Camp Fire came next and the most pleasing feature of the day it proved to be. It was opened by singing All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name. Mrs. Alice Maxim read an original poem. "A WORD TO OLD GLORY."

"Old Glory!" the flag of a country united! Our hearts fill with rapture as we look up to thee! The sweep of thy folds by the morning sun is lighted, The glint of thy stars—most beautiful to see!

The bells chime in memory of Freedom's first birth throes As from England's hard ruling she strove to be free; Yet, when comes a thought of our nation's dead heroes Our hearts weep in sadness that it needed to be.

O, why must the robes of fair Freedom be trailing Forever in the blood of our nation's best youth! And why is the pen, or the word unavailing To carry sight on the evolution of truth!

We need not artillery's boom, nor the rattle Of muskets, or Maxim guns pouring hot shot; We but need honest men in front of the battle Armed ever with "Truth's" flaming sword" sharp and hot.

We need in our Congress a bold Patrick Henry Who will set aside the rules that hamper the brave, We need a new Lincoln, to rent the dread enemy Greedful corporations, and to unchain the white slave.

We need a new Washington, like the first, who blest us With his grandest endeavor, his best fatherly love; We need his strong hand, from wrong ways to arrest us And guide us, with wisdom inspired from above.

We need in each heart a love for humanity That shall far surpass any love for one's self; We need to reach far above soft humanity To a patriot's duty regardless of self.

Then with our great country grow grand in her beauty, And bloom fair as the rose blooms, From Tell's willing hand With her soul all faithful to a patriot's duty, Her daughter's, a loyal, self-sacrificing band.

"Old Glory!" we hope that thy stars in their whiteness

Comrades Warren and Bridgman gave life and drum selections which were great. Col. Easton gave a talk on the Civil War and the battle was on the 4th of July, by the Boys in Blue of which many came from Oxford County. Mrs. Sarah Putnam made most interesting remarks pertaining to the association and the day. Mrs. M. Bartlett gave a humorous recitation "A Boy's Diary" which was greatly enjoyed by all. We could almost see the boy as he recited. The event of the day was the speech by Rev. J. H. Little, Department Chaplain of Maine G. A. R. and it was worth going a long way to hear. It was a grand word picture of the Civil War from the lips of one who had been in the midst of it. Rev. Mr. Davis made remarks, illustrated by the Bible and flag. He also gave song selections. Mother's Prayer and the Ninety and Nine.

Meeting closed by singing America and Benediction by Rev. J. H. Little.

UNION PICNIC A SUCCESS. Sunday Schools of Rumford and Mexico

United and Enjoyed Fine Time at Burgess Hill the Fourth.

While it is no doubt that the threatening weather conditions of Monday morning prevented many from attending the union picnic at Burgess Hill on the Fourth, that had planned to do so still there were a large number that took the chance on the weather and as a result enjoyed a fine day's outing.

The special train left the station at quarter of nine and carried those on board as far as the Camp Hill crossing, here they were met by the East Dixfield band and the schools from Smithville and South Rumford, and the tramp up the hill was started immediately. Some of the children could not wait for the remainder of the party and started out on their own accord, the result being that they did not find the right road and had quite a long round about walk before they reached their destination. The walk up the hill was rather long but all agreed that the view at the top was well worth the effort and when later in the day the sun came out clear and bright the scene before them was certainly one of much beauty.

The day passed very quickly with the athletic contests, the picnic dinner and the fine concert given by the band of twenty-five pieces. Blue, red and white ribbons prizes were given to the three that finished in the lead in each of the athletic events and a summary of the winners is as follows:

25 yard dash, 5 years and under: John McMaster first; Edith Lindberg second; Virgo Johnston third.

BASE BALL. Rumford 13; Mexico 3.

Rumford certainly paid off some of her former defeats at the hands of Mexico today by the stunning defeat which she administered to her in the presence of a large crowd on Gibson's Flats on the afternoon of the Fourth. The rivalry between the two teams was as great as ever and at times things became quite warm, there were also a few incidents during the game when things occurred that would hardly have happened if the teams had been careful to play according to the rules of the game.

The score given above does not reveal the real merits of the contest and it was only in the last few innings that Rumford got to hitting the ball and made the Mexico team look like a second rate. Furbush, who has been pitching good ball for Mexico this season, in fact so good that some of the Mexico supporters apparently had gotten the idea that he could not be beaten, was obliged to see his shots slammed to all sections of the field. Twelve hits with a total of nineteen bases, nearly all of which were made in the sixth and seventh innings was the record of the Rumford batters against him in the seven innings in which he pitched.

On the other hand, Isaacson pitched fine ball for Rumford. The seven hits secured off him were widely scattered and the only inning in which his opponents made two hits was the seventh and in this inning they failed to score. He did not pass a man to first and struck out six. By his work he deserved a shut out but his support went back on him at a few critical times and allowed three of the Mexico base runners to cross the plate.

Up to the beginning of the sixth inning it was a pretty contest with honors about even. In the first two innings Rumford wasted three good hits by foolish base running so that it was the fourth inning before they got a man over the plate. With one man out in this inning, J. Stanwood laid down a nice bunt and had it beaten to first. Olinson made the throw however and it went wild. Stanwood going to second. Greene filed out and F. Stanwood was given a pass. Olinson dropped Gilpatrick's third strike and stood and held the ball until all the base runners were safe. Furbush attempted to catch one of the runners off his base and scored. An error by Isaacson, a put out and Furbush's hit enabled Mexico to score their first run in the fifth.

Things happened in the sixth. Olinson was safe at first when Greene dropped Stanwood's throw. Wagner struck out. Moody hit into right field but was thrown out at first by Rolfe. Olinson getting around to third, Huston hit to F. Stanwood but Greene dropped the throw and Olinson scored. Robinson also hit to F. Stanwood, his throw to first was rather wild and Greene failed to handle it and Huston scored. Blood hit safely and stole second but Stanwood threw out Kish. The way the teams had been playing these two runs looked like quite a mountain to surmount but at the close of their half of the inning things were looking quite rosy from a Rumford standpoint, two singles, two two base hits, a base on balls and two errors allowing Rumford to score six runs. In the seventh Rumford sent four more runs over the plate on two hits, an error, a fielder's choice and Stanwood's slashing home run to the bank in left field.

In the eighth Mexico put Robinson into the pitcher's box and just to show them that all pitchers looked alike to Rumford at this time of the contest, they sent two more runners over the plate. Mexico could do nothing after the sixth inning and died easily, the game ending with a double play, Thibodeau to F. Stanwood.

Notes of the Game.

The crowd was a large one. The high wind and the clouds of dust that swept across the diamond made things very uncomfortable for both players and spectators during the early part of the game.

We should judge that Moody must be an excellent football player, he certainly knows how to make a good tackle. Poor umpire, his lot is a hard one in these games. In the matter of whether a ball is fair or foul he has absolutely nothing to assist him in making a decision so of course there is bound to be kicks from both sides. Some of the spectators also know more about it than either the players or the umpire, in their own mind.

The police were kept busy keeping the crowd back on the side lines. The field should be roped for such games and then the players would have a much better chance.

Isaacson received a hard blow on the nose in sliding to first in the first inning. The wound bled throughout almost the entire game and he looked as if he had been through a prize fight, however, it did not seem to affect his pitching.

The hitting of the Rumford team was much enjoyed by their supporters. There is nothing in a game that appeals to the spectators as a few good, long, clean hits.

STOWELL—RAND.

A very pretty home wedding occurred at Berry Mills, Thursday P. M., at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Hutchinson, when their adopted daughter Miss Lila Rand was united in marriage to Arthur Newton Stowell, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Stowell of Dixfield. Rev. E. W. Webster of Livermore Falls was the officiating clergyman, the single ring service being used.

The house was beautifully and tastefully decorated with evergreens, roses and daisies in profusion. Mrs. Wylliford Stowell South was mistress of honor, attired in a charming gown of pink with hat to match, and carrying brides roses. The best man was George P. Stowell, brother of the groom. The two little sisters of the bride were Rose and Helen who preceded the bride party as they came down stairs scattering roses on their way. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary R. Stowell a sister of the groom. The career of the recess in which the bridal party assembled was tastefully decorated with evergreens and daisies, and presented a delightful background to the service. The bride was very charming in pure white crepe-de-chene with veil, and carrying brides roses. After the ceremony a reception was held, and dainty refreshments were served. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents. There were nearly fifty relatives and friends of both bride and groom present. The couple left in the afternoon by auto for a short stay at Mingo Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Stowell are well known in this community and have many friends who wish them a life full of happiness.

DUNHAM—DAVIS.

The wedding of John Dunham, well known here in Rumford, and Miss Emma Davis of Brockton occurred at the home of the bride's father in Brockton, Wednesday, June 22. From one of the daily papers we take the following account of the wedding.

Wednesday at four o'clock in the presence of near relatives Miss Emma Davis, daughter of Charles J. Davis of New Street, Brockton, and John A. Dunham, son of Augustus Dunham of West Paris, Me., were united in marriage by Rev. W. H. Dunne, pastor of the Franklin Methodist Episcopal Church, at the home of the bride.

The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which was profusely decorated with pink and white roses. Mrs. Harry Tyler a sister of the bride was maid of honor, and Charles A. Davis a brother, was best man.

As the bridal party marched into the parlor and took their stand beneath a large floral arch, Miss Irene Davis of Everett, a bride's cousin, played the wedding march from "Lobengrin." The bride wore a gown of blue crepe-de-chene with pearl trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. Tyler wore a champagne colored silk gown with lace trimmings. She carried pink sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served in the dining room where the color scheme was red and green roses being used.

Mrs. Harold Hoffer of Brockton and Mrs. P. B. French of Turner, Me., also went to the bride, assisted by Ruth and Elmer Davis served.

Mrs. Hoffer wore silk moiré and Mrs. French was gowned in black velvet over black silk.

Immediately after a brief reception the bride donned her going away gown of champagne tulle and the bridal couple left for Paris unknown.

Mrs. Dunham is employed by the Maine Central R. R. and Mrs. Dunham has taught in Auburn, her native city, for several years.

The young couple will make their home in Orono for the present as Mr. Dunham is on the road from Rumford to Orono and spends a greater part of his time at the latter place.

Continental 14; International 6.

The ball game in the forenoon was between teams from the Continental Paper Bag mill and the International Paper Bag mill. The game was evenly contested and there was little to choose between the two teams until the first half of the seventh, when the International men sent into the air and the Continental men sent into the air and the remainder of the game they tossed their lead and the International's were never dangerous. The principal stumbling block in the way of the International boys was a young man named Pith, who went into the box for the Continentals at the beginning of the fourth inning. During the six innings that he pitched, the International made only three hits and scored only one run. Pith, who pitched for the International, struck out ten men but he was hit freely and received very poor support.

The make up of the two teams was as follows: Continental—Mansfield, catcher; Woods, third base; McDonald, second base; Bourge, left field; Koff, pitcher and first base; Olinson, first base and short stop; Fish, short stop and pitcher; Desorche, center field; Pomeroy, right field. International—Merritt, catcher; Pith, pitcher; Gilpatrick and Sheehan, first base; Olinson, second base; Poulin, third base; Raff, short stop; Smith, left field; McCarrick, center field; Ray, right field.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Int.	1	1	0	0	0	0	6	6	6

"This is a bitter dose for an honest man," said the trust magnate as he looked over the gratifying graft results.

Let the oil be strictly honest each day," laughed a profit sharer.

HEART THRILLING GEMS.

THE DUMB CHILD.

She is my only girl,
I asked for her as some most precious thing;
For all unfinished was Love's Jewelled
ring,
Till set with this soft pearl
The shadow that time brought forth I could not see.
How pure, how perfect, seemed the gift
to me!

Oh, many a soft old tune
I used to sing unto that deafened ear,
And suffered not the slightest footstep near,
And lest she might wake too soon;
And hushed her brothers' laughter while she lay.
Ah, needless care! I might have let them play.

'Twas long ere I believed That this one daughter might not speak
to me;
Waited and watched—God knows how patiently—
How willingly deceived.
Vain love was long the untiring nurse
of Faith,
And tended Hope until it starved to death.

Oh, if she could but hear
For one short hour, till I her tongue might teach,
To call me mother in the broken speech
That thrills the mother's ear!
Alas! those sealed lips never may be stirred
To the deep music of that holy word!

My heart it sorely tries,
To see her kneel with such a reverent
air,
Beside her brothers at their evening
prayer;
Or lift those earnest eyes
To watch our lips, as though our words she knew.
Then move her own, as she were speaking too.

I've watched her looking up
To the bright wonder of a sunset sky,
With such a depth of meaning in her eye,
That I could almost hope
The struggling soul would burst its binding cords,
And the long-pent-up thoughts flow forth in words.

The song of bird and bee,
The chorus of the breezes, streams and groves,
All the grand music to which Nature
moves,
Are wasted melody
To her; the world of sound a tuneless void;
While even silence hath its charm destroyed.

Her face is very fair;
Her blue eyes beautifully of finest mould
The soft white brow, o'er which, in waves of gold,
Ripples her shining hair,
Alas! this lovely temple closed must be,
For He who made it keeps the master key.

Will He the mind within Shoulder from earth's babel-clamor be kept free,
Even that still, small voice and step might be Heard, at its inner shrine,
Through that deep hush of soul, with clearer thrill
Than should I grieve O, murmuring heart, be still!

She seems to have a quiet sense
Of quiet gladness, in noiseless play.
She hath a pleasant smile, a gentle way,
Whose voiceless eloquence Touches all hearts, though I had once the fear
That even her father would not care for her.

Thank God it is not so!
And, when his sons are playing merrily,
She comes and leans her head upon his knee.
O, at such times, I know,
By his full eye, and tones subdued and mild,
How his heart yearns over his silent child.

Not of all gifts befalls,
Even now, how could I say she did not speak?
What real language lights her eye and cheek,
And renders thanks to Him who left Unto her soul, yet open avenue
For joy to enter, and for love to use!

And God in love doth give
To her defect a beauty of its own;
And we a deeper tenderness have known Through that for which we grieve.
Yet shall the seal be melted from her ear,
Yes, and my voice shall fill it—but not here.

When that new sense is given
What raptures will its first experience be,
That never wake to madder melody
Than the rich songs of heaven—
To hear the full-toned anthem swelling round, While angels teach the ecstasies of sound!

THE UNBELIEVER.

Alas! all rubberless, behold the bark
Upon the sea, where waves in madness dash;
The stern clouds gather threat'ningly and dark,
And lightning gleams where distant thunders crash!
None know where lies the safe and welcome shore;
No pilot there—they see no beacon
light;
None still scarce yet the storm-king's reign.

IRA C. JORDAN, Bethel, Maine.

And ship, and sea, and sky, are veiled in night.

The dim lamps flicker; vain the prying
eye,
To pierce the darkness on that awful
sea;

Hope now hath fled—oh God! that piercing cry—
The breakers there—close on the foaming crest

The fatal ship groans 'neath the tempest's shock
That drive her onward to a fearful doom;

One moment more—she's crushed upon the rocks—
Down sinks each soul to an oblivious tomb!

Vainly unbelieved here a type behold
Of thy foreshadowed doom on life's sea—

Of thy philosophy, so dark and cold,
Which veils the star of Immortality,
No beacon-light of Hope beams on thy way.

From angel-climes of calm, eternal rest;
Beneath thy feet oblivion's waves there roll,
And thronging horrors brood within thy breast.

Thou hast no guiding compass, pilot
chart,
Nought save thy human lamp, so dim and frail;

Yet deep within thy restless yearning heart,
A "still small voice" attempts to lift the veil.

Did God, O cross, thoughtless matter eternity
Make that immortal, though the dross of earth!

And shall the soul sink down no more to rise,
The nobler part, that claims immortal birth?

Shall yonder orbs, which in bright glory burn,
Which think not, see not, cherish
hopes or fears,

Which love not, care not, have no hearts that yearn
For higher life—be linked with endless years?

Why wilt thou doubt, so scornfully why
carp,
And seek to hush the inner, heavenly voice?

Why wilt thou crush thy soul's mystic loca harp,
Whose spirit-tones bid man in Hope rejoice?

O unbeliever! in thy folly pause,
And rise thee from a dark and hopeless night;

Another life gleams forth from Nature's laws,
And beams in glory from the Oc-cident's light;

No longer thou heart-thrillings thus outbrave,
Which deep within, doth ever heaven
ward leap;

With terror look not in the yawning grave,
Nor fear the doom of unawakened sleep.

Oh unbeliever! what hast thy misdeed done?
Crushed yearning hearts, and quenched the light of Hope;

Armed death with terrors—blatant cut the way,
And doomed the soul to mortal night
to grieve.

Oh, opened be the spirit's inner eye;
Back may those clouds of doubt and fear be rolled;

The light of Faith that beameth from coe-les-tial high,
May all the doubting joyfully be still!

No fires now ever taste so good, what's regular bowels of boyhood. Your diges-

WEST BETHEL.

The Local Happenings as Told by Our Special Reporter.

Fifteen tickets were sold at this station for Bryant's Pond, Monday.
Nearly all the young people at the Hotel spent the fourth at their several homes.

Mr. O. J. Guptill was entertained at the home of Mr. Geo. Grover this week.
Mrs. J. E. Pike left yesterday for Rockland and Vinal Haven, Me., for a couple of weeks.

A large party from Norway came Saturday to spend the fourth with Mr.
and Mrs. P. E. Bennett.

Mrs. W. D. Mills and son Francis went to Portland Saturday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pike.

Mrs. Lucy Crofts spent a few days at her farm home in West Milan, N. H.
the past week.

An architect of Portland was in the village last Saturday to estimate the cost of repairing the ceiling of the church.

Mrs. John Haskell and son George of Berlin, N. H., and Mrs. Eugene Lary spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E.
Pike.

The West Bethel base ball team redeemed themselves in a game with Shelburne last Saturday afternoon, the score being 25 to 5 in their favor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Vashaw and Mr.
Dennis Vashaw made a trip to Montreal and Quebec last week and visited the latter's brother in Canada.

Mrs. Rob. Hastings, Miss Florence Hastings, Mrs. Marshall Hastings and daughter and Mrs. Bennett of Oilead attended the lawn party last Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Wight and party, Mr.
and Mrs. Bert Row, Miss Russell, Mr.
and Mrs. C. C. Bryant from Bethel also

No. Paris last Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Verrill, Mr. and Mrs.
Ernest Morrill, Bert Brown, Geo. Bennett and Elmer Allen.

Henry Verrill's driving horse
"Gypsy" was severely cut on one fore foot Tuesday of last week while on the R. F. D. route. She was newly shod and the sharp shoe cut a gash, necessitating taking several stitches to close the wound.

The lawn party given by the Chapel Aid Society was a great success, the proceeds being about sixty two dollars.
One unique feature was the tags for sale by Mrs. W. W. Goodridge, who gathered in about fifteen dollars, the tags selling for any amount from one cent to one dollar. Ice cream lemonade, candy and fancy articles were for sale during the afternoon. The ball game between Mason and W. Bethel was too one-sided to be interesting, the score being 13 to 1 in favor of Mason. The supper, enjoyed by all, was followed by a short but very pleasing program as follows:—

Chorus—Song of the Sea.
Remarks—Rev. Banghart.
Song—My Native Land.
Reading—The First Settler's Story.
Miss Mildred Brown.
Song—After the Night is Gone.
Reading—Virginia, of Virginia, Miss Edna Bedell.

Song—America.
It is to be hoped that the affair may be an annual occurrence now that it has been revived, as it was greatly enjoyed by all.

RUMFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Osgood went Friday to their cottage at South Rangeley and remained until after the fourth.

Mrs. Caroline M. Parker, mother of County Attorney Parker, died at Mr. Parker's home on Penobscot street, Tuesday evening of last week at the age of 71 years. The remains were taken to the home in Lebanon, at which place was held the funeral and the burial.

The house of William A. Davidson on Spring Ave., Virginia was badly damaged by fire Thursday forenoon. The fire started in the shed and spread rapidly burning through the attic and roof. It is estimated that $500 will be needed to make the necessary repairs on the building. There was an insurance on the furnishings but it is not thought that it is sufficient to cover Mr. Davidson's loss.

Mr. Arthur Neal of Rumford and Miss Amanda Taylor of Kennebunk were married at the home of the bride's parents in Kennebunk by Rev. H. L. Hanson of the Rumford Baptist Church, on Tuesday of last week. After a wedding trip of two weeks the young couple will return to this vicinity and will go to housekeeping in Mexico. Mr. Neal is a chemist at the Oxford mill and Mrs. Neal has for several years been one of the most popular teachers in the Rumford schools. Their many friends unite in wishing them much happiness.

About fifty members of Penacook Lodge, I. O. O. F. and the Rumford Band attended the first annual Field Day of the western Maine Old Fellows' Agricultural Society, South Paris-Norway, Wednesday of last week and many more would have gone had they been able to have secured the special train as they expected. The program included a parade in which there were probably 500 Old Fellows and the Rumford and South Paris Bands, a picnic dinner and a program of athletic sports during the afternoon, the event of greatest interest being the tug of war, teams from six lodges being entered. In the evening Penacook Lodge succeeded in getting through to the finals in which they were defeated by Mt. Mansfield of South Paris after a desperate struggle. The prize was a beautiful sword which we understand will be held by Mt. Mansfield until next year, when it will again be the prize and go to the lodge whose team win the tug of war. While Penacook Lodge was waiting at Mechanic Falls for the Grand Trunk train they had the pleasure of going through the paper mill of the Poland Paper Company, the Superintendent of the mill taking them into every part of the building. The courtesy shown them was deeply appreciated by the lodge members. The Rumford Band played in its usual fine form in the concert given in front of the Grand Stand in the afternoon, was liberally applauded and generously repeated some of the numbers in response to the encores. It was estimated that there were about 2000 people on the grounds.

A runaway horse caused much excitement on Congress street Saturday forenoon. The horse belonged to Dr. Wheel. The Doctor was coming down the Falls hill when the bit broke in the horse's mouth, he attempted to stop the horse by talking to it and the animal did slow down a little but as soon as he realized that she was free she started to move along at a fast rate, seeing that help was powerless, the Doctor thought it was best to get out of the wagon while he could and he jumped. The horse continued down the hill and Bridge street and then headed down Congress Street going at a rapid gait and despite the fact that there were many teams on the street she went almost the entire length of the street before hitting another team, when nearly in front of the Trust Company Building the wagon collided with Mr. Cote's team and tore one of the rear wheels off, the hub remaining on the axle but all the spokes being broken out of the hub. The wagon just grazed a team on the other side of the street. The horse continued on to the head of the street, where she attempted to turn, the rear end was overturned and the horse stepped by one of the blacksmiths from Goodwin's shop. Strange as it may seem Dr. Wheel's carriage was only very slightly injured, a few of the iron rods that hold the top on were bent but otherwise the carriage seemed to be no good as ever. It will mean a new wheel for Mr. Cote's wagon, but everything considered it was extremely fortunate that there was no further damage or no one injured.

Chief of Police Nichols and Deputy Elliott were the State's witnesses. They testified that the men were strangers in town and they had kept an eye on their movements. That Friday evening the three men had gone down the railroad track for a short distance and had gone into a vacant house to sleep and that they had arrested them. The men claimed they were looking for work and had been employed until about a week ago. That they had never been arrested before and would go away at once if allowed their freedom. The many friends which Fred Gilchrist and wife have made since coming to Rumford regretted very much their departure from the town. Mr. Gilchrist has been a popular clerk at the Red Cross Pharmacy for sometime but has now gone to Waterville, where he will engage in business for himself.

Among the appropriations of the last Congress was one of $100,000 for the purchase of a site for a Federal Building in Rumford. The treasury department have already advertised for bids for a corner lot about 120 by 120 feet centrally and conveniently located and suitable for a Federal building site in Rumford Falls, Maine.

Nothing very exciting occurred to disturb the peace of mind of Rumford citizens during the Fourth. The night before was somewhat noisy but not bad at all and we have heard of no damage of any kind being done to any one's property. The church bells were not rung and the noise was produced by fireworks, fire crackers, a drum corps that paraded the streets, and other things of a similar nature. The only attractions of the day were the Sunday school picnic at Burgess Hill and the ball games. The women looked distinctly unimpressed by the pleasures in the morning but the day proved to be a fairly pleasant one. We have heard it stated by some of the older residents that they never knew a Fourth when so many of the citizens were out of town and the crowds that went out on the trains bent on the statement. There was no united effort to have fireworks in the evening but several of the citizens had displays of quite an extensive variety.

Loosen the Grip

of that awful cold, "L.F." Atwood's Medicine acts quickly in loosening the grip of the cold, loosening the system to good, healthy, running order. Nothing rises colds and congestion of the throat and lungs so quickly and positively. An occasional dose of this invaluable remedy will fortify the body from all unpleasant and dangerous attacks. Showmen, Mr. Atwood has tried a great number of remedies for dyspepsia but this medicine is the only remedy that has ever relieved me of this distressing complaint. —JOEL MONTRE. Six men paid fines in Court Tuesday morning for indulging too freely in the ardent during the holiday. Four of them were Polanders who were having a sort of free fight on Waldo Street when the Police appeared on the scene. One other man was charged with assault but as he had settled up the affair with the one he assaulted he was allowed to go on the payment of the costs.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS.

Bethel and Rumford Falls People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Kidney give many signals of distress. The secretions are dark, contain a sediment. Passages are frequent, scanty, painful. Backache is constant day and night. Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent. The weakened kidneys need quick relief. Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy. Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, backache and urinary disorders. Bethel evidence proves this statement.

W. H. Merrill, Esq. of Bethel, Me., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for several years and they have never failed to give me the desired relief. I can recommend them as the best of all remedies for ridging the system of uric acid, removing rheumatic pains and relieving backache. I secured this excellent preparation from W. H. Doan's Kidney Pills Store and am glad to give my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DIFFERENT PATHS IN LIFE

Varying Careers of "Bob" and "Charlie," Who Started on the Journey Together.

In the year 1877 two young men stood up with the rest of their class at Bowdoin university to receive diplomas. One was called Bob, the other was called Charlie. They were Maine boys, both of them, and of about the same age. Within the last few weeks these two boys, now grown into grizzled men in the early '90s, have been conspicuous in the news of day.

One of them, Bob, went in for fame, and after devoting the best years of his life to wrestling with arctic storms, throwing dice with death, enduring the very limitations of privation and hardship, more than once glad to chew tanned leather or bile into rancid blubber, he emerged the other day with a story of discovery that thrilled the whole world and will send his name, Robert E. Peary, sounding down the ages to the end of time.

The other boy, Charlie, went in for fortune. He had already developed the knack of the money-maker and he did not tie up his talent in a napkin. He sold candy. He sold ice. He sold lumber. He acquired banks and trust companies and bought stocks and bonds until he amassed a fortune of twenty-two millions. Then something happened. On the day after New Year's day of this year, his money gone, his reputation destroyed, his liberty lost, he took the 10:45 train on the Southern Limited, escorted by a United States marshal and two deputies, on the way to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., to which he had been sentenced for a term of 15 years. Every loyal desire to save him had been tried and had failed, and Charlie Peary, who had been a hero, was now a convict No. 1311—that is all.

Tender Buds From Hillside Tea Gardens

We obtain our teas from the world's finest tea gardens.

These gardens are situated on lofty hillsides where the iron soil grows tea of superbly strengthening quality.

We use only the first pickings—exquisite flower petals from leaves so young as to be still covered with "down." Leaves having the smoothness of flavor and rose-like bouquet that make tea so delicious.

Teas made from the coarse lower leaves lack the richness and smoothness of "Fifth Avenue" Teas. They lack the fine fragrance and nerve-soothing effects.

Moreover, they lack the distinctive characteristics that have made "Fifth Avenue" Teas the favorite with discriminating people.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column
Dedicated to Tired Mothers
as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

"Girls, you cheapen yourselves by lack of purpose in life," says Rena L. Miller. "You show commendable zeal in pursuing your studies; your alertness in comprehending and ability in surmounting difficult problems have become proverbial; nine times out of every ten you outrank your brother, thus far; but when the end is obtained, the goal reached, whether it be the graduating certificate from a graded school, or a college diploma, for nine out of every ten it might as well be added thereto, 'dead to further activity,' or, 'sleeping until marriage shall resurrect her.'"

Fathers now basking in the sunset of life may not readily recall all their early experiences in life, their struggles and triumphs of manhood, but every feature of their childhood home, the playthings they helped their sisters build are photographed upon the heart's tablet and will never fade away. The golden light of memory will not dim the brightness of this picture. One will never forget the place of his birth, the little broken cart, the sled and kite, and the older brother who led the way to the hillside where the fairest flowers bloomed. These sacred memories will never grow less bright or dim with age.

Many are the rough places we tread from the cradle to the grave; many are the sighs and tears, discouragements, but we can extract joy from the most desert place on the way and midst the most piercing heartaches by the thought that we have made others happy and that there is perpetual morning only a little way off. At every step of the way we travel let us gather all the flowers that bloom and revel amid all the beauty there is, but never forgetting the sweetest and best happiness that can possibly thrill the soul is that which comes from a consciousness of loving and being loved; and we can never love or be loved unless we are willing to live for others.

LAUGHTER IN THE HOUSE.

I have come to look upon laughter as one of the real duties of life. Mind you, I say laughter, real, hearty, joyous, contagious laughter. None of your tittering and giggling, but the real article in the way of laughter. Were you ever in a home in which no one ever laughed? No one could laugh in that atmosphere. Awful, isn't it? Give me the "House of Mirth" for my abiding place. It is doubly sad when there is no laughter in a home in which there are children. Happily such homes are rare in our country. We are a fun loving people and we incline to the opinion that the merriest and best expression of right living. Travelers have said that American children laugh more than any other children in the world. Thank God for that! A good heart and a clear conscience are lack of the right kind of laughter. I for one am in full accord with the man who has written: "It would be a sad thing, indeed, if laughter should be crowded altogether out of life. There are other exercises which we could better afford to lose. Think of a world of human beings with no laughter—men and women wearing always and every where the same grave, serious, solemn faces, with no relaxing of the sternness on any occasion. Think of the laughter of childhood departing from the world, and the laughter of youth—how dull and dreary life would be!"

If I could laugh anything clearly he taught that joy is a duty, as it is the duty of every father and mother to create joy in the home. The twentieth century home should be one of the happiest homes in the world. It is all nonsense to talk about there not being any more real "home life" in America because of the way families seem to be herd together in flats and apartment houses and long bleak rows in our cities. A woman and a mother with the real home instinct will make a real home in any environment, a joyous home, a home that will be home for the spirit. One of the happiest families I ever knew lived a whole year in two consecutive tents out in Colorado. I never heard more or merrier laughter than there was in that home, and the real home spirit was there. An old seafaring man of my acquaintance, whose love for his wife was as true and tender when they were both beyond the allotted time of life as it was in the days of their courtship, was left alone the last three or four years of his life, and he used to say after his wife was taken from him:

"There's nothing I miss so much as my wife's laugh. I used to miss it more than anything else when I was miles and months away from her at sea, and I miss it dreadfully now. If I could only hear my wife laugh once more!"

It is a good thing for husbands and children to have a happy memory of "mother's laugh." Such a happy wholesome memory is worth more to a child when it is a child no more.

"Nothing is more beautiful than the merry bubbling laugh of childhood. It comes from the fountain of love and tenderness in the child's heart. Don't that from I think it is. Do let the children in your home laugh all they want to, and you "live" and laugh with them—forever."

DON'T—REWARD OF IT.

Young man, you that are about embarking in life on your own account, as you value your bytes of experience, let me tell you of a debt ever rest on you with the blighting curse. Beware that though you possess but little it shall be your own, in truth and in deed. Beware that whatever you own shall be yours, untrammelled and free. That no man shall hold a mortgage over your title and that no schooling money lender shall have the chance to step in and take advantage of your hard earnings.

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Holly Springs, Miss.—"Words are inadequate for me to express what your wonderful medicine has done for me. The doctors said I had a tumor, and I had an operation, but was soon as bad again as ever. I wrote to you for advice, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you told me to do. I am glad to say that now I look and feel so well that my friends keep asking me what has helped me so much, and I gladly recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. W. L. Edwards, Holly Springs, Miss.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

If you can't pay for what you want, better go without it till you can. Countenance the contracting of no debts except in cases of sickness or other unavoidable causes. A little self denial at the start often lays the foundation for a period of prosperity and affluence in after life. Live within your means, and grow up as your means increases. Break free from the old rule with their galling chain, and institute a new departure. Turn your plow into the old field and root out the last vestige of the detestable weed that has so long been encroaching upon true progress. By this we do not mean that you should be covetous, niggardly, for this, too, is a vice equally to be shunned, as we may, with the editor's permission, have occasion to speak of it in some future number of these pages; but that you may walk up the journey of life without the crushing burden of debt to drag you down and darken your pathway, that you may peacefully enjoy the fruits of your labors, and that your chances of ultimate success may be brighter, and freer from risks.

Showing.
Feathering the willows,
Drifting in the hedges,
Piling down pillows
On the mountain ledges.

Bordering the streamlet
Where the sedges shiver,
Waiting on the drimlet
To the drowsy river;

Weaving robes of ermine
For the perished roses,
Soft as couch of meadows,
When the deep reposes;

Speaking in a whisper
Mystical and olden,
Silver-throated lisper
With a language golden;

Smoothing out the wrinkles,
In the remoter
Laughing where the tinkles
Of the bells are merry;

Dancing like a fairy.
Vanishing, returning,
Till the spirits airy
Set the woods a-swaying.

When the Ballinger trial is ended, And the jury has said what it thinks, When the case has been made and decided, With the wasted political weeks— We shall smile—and gaze, we shall need to feel it as well had been dropped, And the Opposition crowd will proceed to resume where it was when it stopped. Although we may blush to confess it, The signs shall come down in the time, And the patients shall tip up the coal, The law will get shaky and timber, And the fruits will do well on the whole. It always turns out in that manner, Although we may blush to confess it, And we do not regard it a heavier Achievement, really, to guess it.

July is a tribute to Caesar. One day, with some other historians, he talked by the Pillar of Pompey on things of political import. He was just on the point of explaining the key to some government riddle when a party of regulars jumped him and cut him in two in the middle.

There were three British, the speaker, and Caesar, head of the British, together with others interested in some political matter. "The party interest," they shouted, and what with that terrible shaker, the British came great Caesar as well and been run through a basket.

At any rate, Antony found him cut up into little bits, and begged the consent of the British, who grant of the head of his victim. And then it has happened and shall be as long as the British race by the Pillar of Pompey that Caesar shall live in the name of July.

The fourth shall return to discover the walling in battle array, And what with one thing and another, Regretting we were away, The British shall come, and the British shall come, and the British shall come.

For things on the medicine shelves shall wear imperious countenances, Applying to themselves. The dynamite cap and the rocket shall remind us of tyranny thwarted, and the valiant forerunner shall turn in his coffin to see what he started. The eagle shall mount on his pinions and strike the North and the South, and the British shall stand on the platform and shout of his death.

This latter, however, is harmless in a strictly pathological way, but contains withstanding an evil we want in due season of July. Also, here distinct is no time that might for this post on the British with so long that the British shall come and he gave the British to him.

This latter, we are quite certain, has good and defensible uses, and all of the British shall have been only British. The idea, as we regard it, is not that it should be the cause of any more serious matter than looking the water's jaws.

You know that we never hear of it except on the fourth of July, and whenever some famous poet is far away we wonder why. Well, this is the fact of the matter, and by now we are willing to bet it is true and in the long run that no one but a lot of old Britishers get it.

However, be that as it may be, And get what the British will, The British shall come, and the British shall come, and the British shall come.

The safe and the same collection shall come and the same collection shall come and the same collection shall come.

To show what we did to the British, There never was anything safe in the way the British attacked them, and as for the matter of the British, they shall come and the British shall come, and the British shall come.

With money to do one but not two, And there's a lot to think what has happened, Had they down over September 11th, Had they down over September 11th, Had they down over September 11th.

Terrible Suffering

Excesses All Over Baby's Body.
"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy. Mrs. Fred Lewis, Hartford, Conn. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures blood diseases and builds up the system. Get it today in liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsapabs.

Someone has stated, and in the due course of the matter somebody must live in the grass. It's hard on a strenuous nation, affecting all in a way, but we'll look on the brighter side of it, and conclude it is good for the boy.

London's Fat Boy.
A memorial of the great fire of London is in danger of vanishing. The glided fat boy put up on the Fortune of War, an old city inn at Pye corner, West Smithfield, where the fire stopped, may soon have the wall which has been his refuge pulled down about his ears, as the inn has closed its doors and is to be demolished. The figure of a fat boy was chosen, we are told, because the fire was caused "by the sin of gluttony."

It is pleasant to find such an emblematic statement as to the birth of that catastrophe, usually it is shrouded in a mist of hazy legends in which place and conspiracies loom large. There is a tale much to be said for the gluttony theory, that the fire started in the house of one Parrish, "the king's baker" who lived in Pudding lane, near New Fish street hill. The whole neighborhood, it will be said, reeked of calling. However, the gluttony and wrongs of this theory will never be settled. The important point now is to preserve this glided fat boy from the destruction awaiting him. He should be tenderly removed with all his gilt upon him, and set up again at one of the other spots where the fire ceased to rage—in Holborn hill or Aldersgate, for instance. Such a standing warning against one of our national besetting sins is too good to be lost even though the lesson be partially obscured by gilt.—London Evening Standard.

Food for Nervous Exhaustion.
The all too common name of neurasthenia is a term used to describe a peculiar form of disease sometimes spoken of as nervous exhaustion, which in these days of excessive activity, worry, overstrain and fear of appearances is only too frequent, both among men and women. Its most common symptoms are constant feeling of weariness and fatigue, mental depression and crossness, failure of appetite, with all sorts of vague, uncertain, dyspeptic discomforts, and generally sleeplessness. The treatment is a combination of rest, with proper food, but most authorities agree that the feeding is the most important part of the treatment.

How Princess Study History.
Very special care, by the way, is taken in instructing all the royal children in English history. In order to interest them in this branch of their studies the princesses are taken frequently to the British museum by Mr. Hanwell to see original letters and documents of great historical importance which they have found mentioned in their books. This method of instruction was one that greatly appealed to Prince Albert, for whom these documents had a tremendous fascination; the young princesses would frequently spend a day in the museum instead of going to see a football or cricket match.—M. A. P.

Man Tells His Threat and Lunges.
A gruesome sort of bargain was transacted in Detroit recently when Bert Murphy, a noted racketeer, agreed to sell his throat and lungs to the Medical college of Chicago for experimental purposes after death. The reason the organs are wanted is because Murphy once was in the last stages of consumption and was cured by outdoor playing. The price offered was good, and Murphy after consultation, closed the bargain on the assurance that his body, minus the throat and the lungs, could be returned to his family unharmed.

A Humble Queen.
Queen Adelaide, the wife of King William IV, was a woman of unaffected piety and humility. These qualities were conspicuous in the directions left in her will.

"I die in all humility, knowing well that we are all alike before the throne of God, and I request therefore that my mortal remains be conveyed to the grave without any pomp or state. I die in peace, and wish to be carried to the tomb in peace and free from the vanities and the pomp of this world."—Home Notes.

Her Fruitless Search.
Mrs. Minnie: "You are not eating your meat, Mr. Harbison." Mrs. Harbison: "The fact is, Mrs. Minnie, my stomach is not very good, and this meat seems a little tough to me." Mrs. Minnie: "Well, that's too bad. Such a time as I do have getting good meat. I have tried every place I can think of." Mr. Harbison: "Have you tried my place near the hotel?"

Jews in United Kingdom

Number Under a Quarter of a Million and Are Mainly in the Big Cities.

According to statistics there are at the present time about 225,000 Jews in the United Kingdom, mainly in London and the other large cities of England. The Jews being rated among the greatest merchants in the world, it is not natural that they should flock to the cities where the widest field for their industry is to be had.

In England there is a popular saying that there are no Jews in Scotland. Although this is not literally true, it is a fact that there are not many of them in that part of the United Kingdom. Mark Twain is authority for the statement that in the last half of the century only one Jew had lived in Scotland. He says that one moved to Edinburgh, and before he realized it the canny Scotch had him so well trimmed of his worldly goods that he never afterward had enough money to escape from the country. It is feared, however, that the humorist has slightly exaggerated the story.

There are comparatively few Jews in Ireland, the large majority of the 225,000 being in London, Liverpool and two or three others of the largest English cities.

Just as they do in this country, the Jews of England seek no other race to assist them in the maintenance of their own power through well-organized charities they take care of all the poor and destitute, raising nearly $1,000,000 annually for religious and benevolent purposes.

DANGER IN LICKING STAMPS
Practice Has Been Known to Cause Apple Inflammation of the Tongue.

Do the people who fear at the caution which is refused to lick a postage stamp as "cranks" know that there is a defined disease known as "the postage stamp tongue?"

This is an acute inflammation of the tongue, directly traced to the germ to be found on the gummed side of stamp or envelope.

Other and more serious diseases have been caused by this habit that is so universal and seems so harmless. One throat specialist in a hospital declares that many chronic affections of the throat are found among persons who have as their livelihood the advertising and stamping of envelopes.

Bad skin diseases have been known to follow this habit, and it has even caused pulmonary troubles.

It is after all but a habit, and a bad one. It takes no more time and is quite as easy to moisten the stamp with a damp sponge or rag.

Where many letters must be stamped and sealed there are good patent inventions by which the sponge is kept moist.

Hanging on the Wall.
The way pictures are hung makes such a lot of difference in the appearance of a room, said an interior decorator a few days ago. "That fact is I hang upon me nearly every day. I do find some pictures where the pictures are hung so high that all perspective is lost, and the ceiling seems to be hopelessly high. Other folks hang theirs so low that it hurts your spine to look at them, in addition to straining your eyes, spelling the beauty of the room and taking from the value of the pictures."

"All pictures should not be hung on the same level, as they so often are, yet all should be as nearly on the level with the eyes as possible. If square and oblong pictures are alternated irregularly with round and oval ones the best possible effect is gained."

Being Natural.
Can you, if you be the gentler sex, walk down the street behind an elegantly gowned woman and restrain the impulse to imitate her pose of head, her carriage and the fascinating ways she possesses? Have you ever been in a crowded room where one woman was the center of attraction and seen someone trying to imitate her? A woman is most charming when she is natural. A woman who is natural, even in her erratic moods, does not give offense. One cannot imitate the ways, manners and style of another without appearing ridiculous. The most women we meet are those who do not pose or seek to imitate some one else.

Planning Farm for Profit.
Bulletin Recently Issued by United States Department of Agriculture Important to Farmer.

A recent bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture, entitled "Replanning a Farm for Profit," deals with principles that are vital to successful farming in the corn belt. Few farmers realize the difference in income that may be produced on the farm by the systematic introduction and rotation of clover or other leguminous crops over the entire area of their tillable land. The planning of rotations to meet certain food requirements and to grow crops which shall be the greatest income producers under given conditions is a problem that is not easily solved by all the tillers of the soil. The conservation of soil fertility by appropriate rotations together with applications of manure and fertilizers in such manner as will maintain a permanent system of agriculture has been largely overlooked by farm owners in the past. Farmers' Bulletin 275 explains the farmer in solving these difficulties. It discusses a run-down farm in Illinois and presents different types of farming that may be substituted for the usual one of corn and soybean crops, so as to raise the income all the way from two to five times as much as that commonly received, and at the same time increase the fertility of the soil. A copy of this bulletin may be had free on application to a member of Congress or the secretary of agriculture, Washington.

FARM NOTES.

Never disturb the bees in cold weather. Spring is the best time to make a start in bee-keeping. Never approach the bees with the front if you would keep peace with the inmates. You can breed the nubbins out of the corn just as easy as you can breed the scrib cows out of the dairy herd. Isn't it a shame that the wheat lands of this country produce an average of only about 12 bushels per acre? The hired man who shirks or dodges his work to save a backache will never be anything but a hired man. Gardening time will be here before you are ready for it. If you are not careful, regardless of the cold winds to-day. While you are backed up to the big stove in the grocery store, don't leave your team shivering in the cold unblanketed. The gasoline engine, valuable as it is, will never entirely take the place of really good horses on the farm or anywhere else. It is not good policy to keep a boy on the farm if he has the ability to earn the wages of a dozen hired men in the city. Let him go. The seeds of all kinds should be selected and the cleanest and best of the different varieties. If possible none other should be used. Select for fall plowing the stubborn, refractory clay soil, and on all fields not fall-plowed have cover crops growing, to be plowed under in spring. Bees are very susceptible to odors and that of a dog or horse which may cling on the garments of some one near the hives will rouse their anger.

IMPLEMENT FOR SOD-CUTTING
Tool Shown in Illustration Will Dig Out Section of Turf with Neatness and Dispatch.

Expressly designed by a New Jersey man for the purpose of cutting sods, the implement shown in the illustration greatly expedites that work. It resembles a shovel with high, sharp sides, and has a hinged footpiece which comes down in front and chops out the section of turf which the shoveler likes. The shoveler is thrust under the sod until it can go no further. Then the knife is jammed down and the whole withdrawn with a neat piece of sod. The operation consumes only a fraction of the time required to dig out a piece of turf by the old method, and has the additional merit of bringing the sod out whole and with smooth sides, and not in the ragged shape that it sometimes is cut. In the middle of the handle of this tool is a catch to engage the knife section and hold it out of the way when it is not needed to cut the sod loose.

Had the Best Night.
Dr. Russell Wallace, scientist, once told an amusing experience he had while "ghost hunting" in a country graveyard. Walking among the graves one night in the company of the sexton, who claimed to have seen the "shadowy form," Dr. Wallace asked, "Have you any idea whose ghost it was you saw?"

"I can't tell you, sir," was the reply; "but every time I see a man who had three wives. On the stone of the first there is 'My wife'; on the second, 'My dear wife'; and on the third, 'My beloved wife.' If any ghost does walk hereabouts I should say it is the first wife's."

He Probably Did.
Physician—Have you any sense or sense this morning?
Patient—Yes, doctor. It hurts me to breathe—in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath.

Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that.—Boston Globe.

On Mahel.
"Did you hear about the joke that was played on Mahel, Christmas?"
"No, what was it?"
"She fastened a sprig of mistletoe in her hair."
"That was a bright idea."
"Yes, but her little brother hid her hair."

Why He Stated Incongruities.
"You have immigrated, don't you?"
"Yes, sir. The greatest blow I ever sustained was when I was told that America was discovered by a foreigner."

Prunes and Rice.
Slow prunes tender, eat, chop fine. Boil cupful of rice soft and dry. Place alternate layers of rice and prunes, finishing with a layer of rice. Dot with butter, dust with sugar and ground nutmeg. Bake in a hot oven. Serve with hard sauce.

Hot Egg and Milk.
Egg and milk flavored with vanilla extract, well shaken, sprinkled over the top with pulverized nutmeg and piping hot is for sale at all the big shops and drug stores. Small salted waters and squares of sponge cake are served with this drink, which is healthy and appetizing, and is just the thing for a cold day.

Lemon Fritters. One of the best—Recipe for Puffet—Some Supper Novelties—How Eggless Cake Should Be Prepared.

Lemon Fritters.—Peel two lemons, remove all the white skin and cut into crosswise slices. Take out the seeds, dip each slice into a stiff batter and fry a golden brown in deep fat. Serve with lemon sauce.

Puffet.—One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, creamed together, two eggs well beaten, and one cup of sweet milk, 3/4 cups of flour, with two heaping teaspoons baking powder and a little salt. The mixture should be stiffer than cake. Bake in a shallow well-greased pan 35 or 40 minutes. Split and serve hot with butter.

Supper Novelties.—Confectionery and fancy cakes are being used for supper novelties now instead of the favorite crackers, although these latter are not banished entirely from parties. There are eclairs, lady fingers, tarts, fruit and even fish and small games made of paper or paper mache, and looking for all the world like the real sweets. But inside these dainties are tucked paper caps after the style of the better known supper party confections.

Eggless Cake.—In these days of high priced eggs, the following recipe for apple sauce cake, without eggs, will be appreciated, as it has been tested and found to be excellent. One cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of unswartened apple sauce, with one scant teaspoonful of soda stirred into it; 1 1/4 cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one cupful of raisins, chopped and mixed with the flour. Bake as a loaf cake and ice.

Fried Smelts.
If large or selected smelts are ordered the cost will be much higher than if they are bought by the pound, taking all sizes as they come. Clean, remove the fins and leave the heads. Beat an egg, add a tablespoon of water to make it go farther. Cover each fish with the egg, lift out with tongs and roll in fine bread crumbs; fry in deep fat in a frying basket. Some prefer the smelts rolled in fine cornmeal instead of the egg and crumbs.

Serve with sauce tartare in lemon cups. Cut lemons in halves, remove the pulp, notch the edge with scalars and drop into cold water until needed. For the sauce use two egg yolks, one-half cup of olive oil, three tablespoons of vinegar, one tablespoon of mustard and one teaspoon each of sugar, salt and onion juice and one quarter teaspoon of pepper. Put the dry ingredients into a chilled bowl with the egg yolks and beat five minutes, then add the oil a few drops at a time until it is thick, then add the vinegar and remainder of the oil alternately until all is used. When ready to use the sauce stir in the chopped pickles.

Arrange the fish on a platter, with the heads and tails alternating, and set the lemon cups at each end in a nest of parsley.

Blind Batter.
When the article is just to have a thin coating the following recipe is excellent: Place in a bowl one egg, a cupful each of milk and flour and a teaspoonful of salt. Beat until smooth, then continue to beat rapidly for five minutes. If to be used as a sweet dish add two teaspoonfuls of sugar.

Another good batter may be made from three eggs beaten smooth, one and a half cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder, three-fourths of a cup of milk, a teaspoonful of salt and five teaspoonfuls of salad oil.

Potato Balls with Fish.
Take one pint of mashed potatoes; beat into it while hot one large tablespoon of butter, one tablespoon of onion juice, three tablespoons of flour, two tablespoons of cream, salt and pepper to taste; beat all together, form into balls as large as walnuts, then dip in beaten egg and drop into boiling hot oil, fry a delicate brown, drain on brown paper and serve hot with the fish. Or take baked potatoes, and cut with a cutter small balls of potatoes. Serve around the fish on platter.

Something New In Kitchen Ware

The "185" Pure Aluminum Ware is rapidly coming into use for cooking purposes. It is taking the place of silver and enamel ware because while it first cost a little more than ordinary ware, it is really much cheaper in the long run, as it is guaranteed for twenty-five years and will last practically a life time.

The genuine "185" Ware, made fully from pure ALUM (not steel) Aluminum, will not crack, scale, peel, bend, corrode or burn.

It looks like silver but weighs only about one-quarter as much, is easily cleaned and handled, and will not rust, corrode or tarnish. Absolutely pure, non-poisonous and whitensome; serves money, time and mother's love.

See how you get the material and you have your money's worth. Write for literature.
